

Rutgers University Women In Neuroscience
(RUWINS) Seminar Series Presents:

“The Genetics of Substance Use Disorders: Novel Approaches to Identify Genes and Develop Tailored Prevention/Intervention”

Dr. Danielle Dick

Professor, Department of Psychiatry,
Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School; Director, Rutgers University
Addiction Research Center;
Greg Brown Endowed Chair in CBN

Friday, October 14, 12:00pm

Keck Center for Collaborative Neuroscience
Nelson Biological Laboratories
604 Allison Road, D-251
Busch Campus

To attend on Zoom:

<https://rutgers.zoom.us/j/94820650866?pwd=QUczUmlMRVZEYk1pbTQ1bHdDWmoyZz09>

RUWINS is co-sponsored by the Douglass Women in Science and Engineering (WiSE) Program and the W. M. Keck Center for Collaborative Neuroscience.

Questions or comments, email:
ruwins@dls.rutgers.edu

@rutgersruwins

